I am a retired Brigade Sustainment/Logistics Manager for a U.S. Army Engineering Brigade. I provide personnel and planning to procure general supplies, oil and fuel products, construction material, ammunition, food, and additionally manage the transportation and movement of these materials. I provide staff supervision and planning of equipment maintenance operations as they affect the engineering effort. I anticipate maintenance problems; identify trends, and assist with unit maintenance functions on wheeled and tracked equipment. I am responsible for the full-time operations of the logistics section and the training of section personnel. I provide guidance and recommend policy for supply, maintenance, and food service matters for a Brigadier General Brigade Commander. I oversee and conduct staff visits and command inspections on units that are the Brigade's responsibility to ensure supply discipline is part of all supply operations. I monitor the Commander's maintenance report to identify trends with maintenance issues and track all property losses and damages to hold individuals accountable when necessary. I gained experience with emergency planning and response during Hurricane Katrina. I have an additional duty as the Brigade's Environmental Compliance Officer to enforce environmental compliance in all units under the command.
